Cori Mustin called Paulson in response to her email to Theresa Marino, USFWS (dated 9/24/07). Paulson wanted to know what the HCP/NCCP was about and wanted to know if there was an agenda available for the 9/26/07 Scoping mtg. Mustin gave her background info on HCP process and on SCU HCP/NCCP history. Did not have agenda to forward to her at the time but directed her to the public SCU website.

Subject Question on Sept 26 meeting

Theresa,

This article appeared in the Almaden News:

"Project to preserve animal habitat seeks local input

Federal officials are drafting a plan to protect animal habitat in some undeveloped areas of southern Santa Clara County, and they are looking for input from San Jose residents. The US Fish and Wildlife Service will hold a meeting on Sept. 26 to discuss protecting 30 plants and animals.

The meeting will be held from 7 to 9pm at the Morgan Hill Community and Cultural Center, 17000 Monterey Road in Morgan Hill. For more information, call 916 414 6464."

I would like to know the meeting agenda and any other information such as more specifics on the region of the county they will be discussing, what are the plants and animals, etc.

I have been trying to find a response for several weeks now.

Thanks,

Lynne Paulson

Hi Pamela,

It was nice talking with you this morning. The following website will give you background information on the developing HCP/NCCP: <http://www.scv-habitatplan.org/www/default.aspx>

Draft documents are also available on this website.

I am working on getting a copy of the agenda. However, I'll be out of the office starting tomorrow, so I may not receive it in time to forward to you before this Wednesday's meeting.

CONVERSATION

Tom left a voice message. Indicated he's working on project SW of Stanford in Palo Alto. Wanted to know how HCP/NCCP would affect his proj.

Mustin returned phone call @ 8 Am, 10/1/07. Directed Herzog to SCU HCP/NCCP public website and asked him to check if any portion of his project overlapped the SCU study area. Told him that the city of Palo Alto is not within our study area, but if a portion of his project did intersect w/ HCP/NCCP study area, there is an "interim" process where he would need to contact the County, which would in turn notify the Service (ie. "green sheet.") Herzog said he would check the SCU public website.

Comment:

Water is one of the most significant limiting factors for Santa Clara Fisheries; efforts should be made to identify and remediate water diversions (both riparian, appropriative, and wells) in all fish bearing tributaries. Efforts should be made to determine the degree of impact of these diversion. Efforts should be made to develop off channel ponds or other storage devices to minimize summer water diversions.

Pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the Santa Clara Valley Habitat Plan Local Partners (Cities of Gilroy, Morgan Hill and San Jose, County of Santa Clara, Santa Clara Valley Water District, and Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority) and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service plan to prepare an EIR/EIS on the Santa Clara Valley Habitat Conservation Plan/Natural Communities Conservation Plan, named the Santa Clara Valley Habitat Plan – A Conservation Legacy. Written comments from interested parties regarding the scope of the EIR/EIS are invited to ensure that the full range of environmental issues related to the proposed action are identified and evaluated. All comments received, including names and addresses, will become part of the official administrative record and will be made available to the public. Information, written comments, or questions related to the preparation of the EIR/EIS should be received on or before October 22, 2007.

Comment:

The HCP should fund a steelhead lifecycle station to determine whether the mitigation and minimization measures are in fact working this will be a long term monitoring project in order to determine baseline conditions and long term trends. The life cycle station must monitor adult migrants, molt out-migration, and juvenile populations. Ideally the monitoring will occur in at least two watersheds. One watershed should be impaired (Uvas) and one relatively non-impaired (Pescadero, SF Pacheco).

Comment

The Habitat Conservation Plan (HCP) is proposing two strategies for conservation and mitigation--land purchase and changes/additions/modification of existing County/City codes, ordinances and policies (COP). In many cases changes to existing COPs is a cheaper way of ensuring the County adequately mitigates and minimizes their ongoing practices than outright land acquisition. However, this will only work if there is adequate enforcement (which there currently is not right now). Currently the County enforces those landowners out of compliance with existing rules and regulation on a complaint basis only, this is inadequate. The HCP should have a significant enforcement component with adequate funding throughout the life of the HCP.

Pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the Santa Clara Valley Habitat Plan Local Partners (Cities of Gilroy, Morgan Hill and San Jose, County of Santa Clara, Santa Clara Valley Water District, and Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority) and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service plan to prepare an EIR/EIS on the Santa Clara Valley Habitat Conservation Plan/Natural Communities Conservation Plan, named the Santa Clara Valley Habitat Plan – A Conservation Legacy. Comment:

Removing barriers and augmenting flow releases from the various dams will not be adequate to protect the riparian ecosystems in the County. The HCP must address chronic factors such as chemical spills, urban runoff, policies that allow construction (within the 100 year flood plain) that have resulted in the long-term degradation of riparian habitat throughout the County.

Comment:

A thorough review of County/City/Agency policies that may adversely affect listed species should be conducted as part of the HCP. The incidental take permit must address policies such as encouraging, rather than clustering, rural residential housing. Clustering discourages sprawl while current policies encourage sprawl which degrades wildlife habitat and connectivity.

Comment:

Adequate erosion control must be in place on all County Parks roads and trails prior to the onset of winter rains. The erosion control practices must, at a minimum, meet the standards of the State of California Forest Practice Rules.

RE: SANTA CLARA COUNTY HCP PUBLIC COMMENTS

Dear Ms. Rinek:

As the project biologist for the proposed 1,600 acre Lucky Day Wildlife Conservation and Wetland Mitigation Bank (proposed bank) located in Gilroy, California, the content of the letter is to summarize our comments regarding the existing resources, connectivity, and value of the proposed bank for your consideration of including this property into the proposed HCP Conservation Strategy. The proposed bank provides a diverse assemblage of habitat communities that promote native biological diversity and benefit covered species documented on and adjacent to the site including California tiger salamander, California red-legged frog, western pond turtle, western burrowing owl, golden eagle, bay checkerspot butterfly, Loma Prieta hoita, and Santa Clara Valley dudleya. The proposed bank also provides connectivity and linkages to the San Martin/Hayes Valley open space area to the north, and to the Uvas Creek watershed to the west and south. In addition, Uvas Creek with documented occurrences of steelhead is located along the southern boundary of the proposed bank. The property also provides a north-south corridor between the landscape linkages identified by the California Wildlife Coalition in the HCP Conservation Strategy (Figure 1).

The proposed bank provides a diversity of high value habitat communities, soil types, and gradients that benefit eight species covered in the proposed HCP Conservation Strategy. Habitat communities include a matrix of seasonal wetlands and seeps, freshwater marsh, ponds, and vernal pools, as well as upland habitats including valley and foothill grassland, oak woodland, riparian woodland, sage scrub, and serpentine grassland/rock outcrop. The wetland/pond/upland matrix supports multiple life-stages for covered amphibians and reptiles, and rare plants. Open grassland habitats with serpentine soils provide north/south and east/west slope exposure with a tilt of more than 7 degrees to support larval host plants Plantago erecta, the host plant for the bay checkerspot butterfly.

Primary constituent elements for target species are present throughout the proposed property, including breeding, foraging, and estivation habitat for California tiger salamander, California red-legged frog, and western pond turtle. In addition, the entire northern region of the property is considered critical habitat for the California tiger salamander. Adequate nesting and foraging habitat with an abundant lagomorphs prey base is available for golden eagle, and western burrowing owl. Unique land types including riparian woodland, oak woodland, freshwater marsh, and serpentine grassland/rock outcrops provide essential habitat for tricolored blackbird, Least Bell's Vireo, bay checkerspot butterfly, Loma Prieta hoita, and Santa Clara Valley dudleya. The proposed bank area contains the only documented vernal pool habitat within the HCP Conservation Strategy Area, which supports occurrences of Hoover's button celery and common vernal pool plant Limnathes sp. (meadowfoam). Figure 2 denotes the community types within the proposed bank area; Figure 3 depicts the special status wildlife and plant occurrences within the proposed bank area and surrounding habitats.

Establishment of a bank and inclusion in the HCP Conservation Strategy would provide ecological protection of natural processes and natural resource management of the habitats and covered species in perpetuity. Inclusion of the proposed bank in the HCP Conservation Strategy will protect habitats, covered species, and primary wildlife corridors eastward from the Uvas Creek watershed into grassland communities within the proposed bank, and between open space areas to the north and south. The availability of interspersed wetlands and ponds with adjoining upland habitats facilitate species migration, dispersal, and colonization. A dense lagomorphs prey base combined with aquatic/wetland/riparian habitats provide excellent foraging habitat for resident and migratory raptors, birds, and bats, as well as terrestrial mammals, including bobcat, coyote, American badger, and mountain lion. The proposed bank area provides the largest relatively undisturbed grassland/upland habitat (1000 acres) available in the southern Santa Clara County west of Highway 101, including approximately 43 acres of serpentine soil which supports native bunchgrasses. Land use surrounding the proposed bank consists of primarily low density housing, golf courses, agricultural land and open space. There are also opportunities for the approximate bank boundaries to be adjusted to encompass existing open space located at any pinch point.

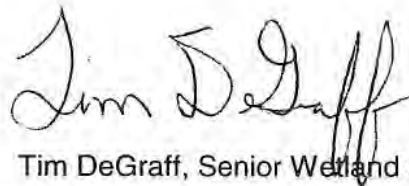

Management activities proposed include restoration and creation of a vernal pool/wetland/pond complex that will enhance recolonization and dispersal among existing amphibian populations, and sustain and enhance existing rare plant populations. Removal of invasive/exotic fish and bullfrogs will further enhance breeding ponds for recolonization by California tiger salamander and California red-legged frog. Managed grazing will control invasive plant species and fuel loads, and promote native plant diversity. Serpentine grasslands provide a potential future site for bay checkerspot larval reintroduction or a dispersal sink for new populations.

Based on studies conducted from 2004 to present, it is evident this property provides a large contiguous area comprised of multiple functional and unique habitat communities that support a diverse native species assemblage. Inclusion of this property would benefit covered species and lead to their recovery by sustainment of natural processes including breeding, foraging, and dispersal, and promote landscape linkages and habitat connectivity not currently available in southwestern Santa Clara County.

Respectfully,

Dana Riggs, Wildlife Biologist

Tim DeGraff, Senior Wetland Scientist

Ken Schreiber, Habitat Plan Program Manager
County of Santa Clara
70 West Hedding Street, East Wing, 7th Floor
San Jose, CA 95110

Dear Mr. Schreiber:

I am in receipt of your Notice of Preparation to prepare a South Santa Clara County Habitat Conservation Plan. Both the Santa Clara (SCU) and the San Mateo - Santa Cruz (CZU) Units of the Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CAL FIRE) are very interested in your proposal and have some concerns that we believe need to be addressed and included in your preparation of the HCP. The Mission of CAL FIRE not only calls for protecting the people of California from fires and emergencies but also states that we will enhance forest, range and watershed values while providing environmental benefits to rural and urban citizens.

I'm not sure if this committee is aware that CAL FIRE has many types of vegetation treatment projects that we work on within these two Units and throughout the state with the landowners in the State Responsibility Areas (SRA). It is important that you understand that the projects that CAL FIRE work on are not development projects and must be treated differently. Our projects can be a useful tool in achieving some of the mix of habitats necessary for protection of species and enhancing/restoring native grasses, oaks, and habitat for a variety of listed species specific to this area some of which you listed in your handouts during the public hearing on October 3, 2007. All CAL FIRE projects are developed using state and federal rules including CEQA, California and Federal Clean Air and Endangered Species Act. These projects should be recognized in your HCP as positive and separate from your HCP and allowable without additional restrictions, without additional consultation or additional mitigation before they can be implemented.

One of these projects that both CZU and SCU have large participation in is the Vegetation Management Program (VMP). This program which is covered under a Programmatic EIR allows landowners to enter into cost share program with CAL FIRE which focuses on the use of prescribed fire and mechanical means for addressing wildland fire fuel hazards and other resource management issues on SRA lands. The use of prescribed fire mimics natural processes, restores fire to its historic role in wildland ecosystems, and provides significant fire hazard reduction benefits that enhance public and firefighter safety. A new VMP EIR is currently under revision and will be completed in late 2008. Once it's finalized, this will provide some of the information and impacts analysis that will be helpful to this effort.

PLANNING OFFICE
07 OCT 22 PM 1:57

Wildland Urban Interface and the development of property in the rural areas increase the probability of catastrophic fires. The use of prescribed fire is a tool which can dramatically reduce this probability and at the same time, will enhance native habitats, reduce non native species and promote healthy forest management. You may recall the recent Lick incident this September which burned more than 47,000 acres which you could see from miles away. Though this was mainly on State Park property, many cabins were destroyed and property completely denuded of vegetation. Fire behavior due to fuel, weather, topography and the fact the area had not burned in over 50 years created extreme behavior which caused the fire to burn with very high heat intensity, air quality levels to drop and put the public and fire fighters in harms way. The 2002 Croy Fire is also a recent reminder that lack of fuels management (either fire or mechanical treatment) can cause catastrophic fires. The Croy Fire burned several thousand acres and destroyed many homes. The Lexington Fire is again another reminder of catastrophic fire activity. This fire in the 1990s burned over several thousand acres and destroyed many homes. These are only recent reminders of what catastrophic fires can do in this area. Fifty year fire history of this area shows the same pattern.

CAL FIRE also aids Watershed Managers in carrying out conservation practices. Specifically, Public Law 566 allows CAL FIRE to work with Watershed Managers within the County to aid them in developing plans for achieving their soil and water conservation objectives. These plans include fire hazard reduction projects which include the use of both fire and mechanical means of removal of fuel for Watershed Protection.

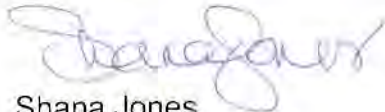

CAL FIRE is also responsible for ensuring that timber harvesting within the County is done in a manner that will preserve and protect our fish, wildlife, forests and streams. CAL FIRE enforces the laws found in the Forest Practice Act and those enacted by the State Board of Forestry and Fire Protection. These harvest plans maintain habitat rather than destroy it.

New development needs to take other factors into consideration that come about in urban interface situations. Your HCP must include the use and development of fuel breaks, compatible landscape design (use of native and fire resistant species) and adequate defensible space and be compliant with Public Resource Code 4290 and 4291 which requires property clearances of 100 feet. Additionally, access to these developments must be adequately addressed from a fire protection perspective. I strongly encourage you to work with and allow Fire Safe Councils to address their concerns, incorporate their goals and participate as an active member in the development of this plan. You need to consider the benefits of fire on listed species. Your plan also needs to take into consideration the Fire Hazard Severity Zone information which describes the potential for catastrophic fires based on non-mitigated hazards in both Local Responsibility (LRA) and SRA lands.

We are asking that CAL FIRE be a partner in the development of this HCP. If allowed to participate as an equal partner, we can assist you with your goals and help you understand ours. We do not want this HCP to deter CAL FIRE's future fuels treatments and allow them to be looked upon as being detrimental to habitat values, resulting in take of listed species. We do not want to mitigate our treatments; rather the benefits of the treatments should be recognized for protecting habitat from catastrophic fire. We believe that as a partner in your efforts to create a County wide HCP we can accomplish these goals. Dear Ms. Rinek:

I am responding to your call for comments on the Draft HCP for the Santa Clara Valley, Santa Clara, CA. My interest stems from a presentation done at the most recent Wildlife Society Meeting in Monterey, CA. In that presentation a gentleman (whose name and affiliation I don't recall) gave a presentation on the modeling efforts to determine habitat suitability for the Western Burrowing Owl. At that time he listed among the vegetation characteristics used in the model "Oak Woodlands". I expressed concern at that time, since oak woodland—indeed ANY woodland—is definitely not suitable habitat for the burrowing owl. Although there is grassland present in most oak woodlands, the numbers of predators (great horned owls, red-tails and barn owls to name a few) are in high numbers in these areas, and would not bode well for long-term conservation value for the burrowing owl. I am concerned that the model grossly over-estimate suitable habitat for the bird in your area.

The HCP draft does not specify the variables used for the burrowing owl (or any other) model, and I would like to know what variables were ultimately used. I am concerned that the correct use of habitat models be incorporated into the design of this plan.

Sincerely,
